

CEC Hunt Activity

Around your house, try to find as many products as possible that are listed below. Once you've found your products, read the ingredients label and try to pick out at least one chemical that might be a CEC. On the list, use the blank space to write down which chemical(s) you think might be CECs. Once you're done, check your work with the key. Because there are so many possible chemicals and products, you may not find your exact product on the key.
